Building bridges

Connect subgroup tables with bridges made only of A4 paper, then draw parallels between the exercise and daily work.

Key steps

Get a large team or group of people that work with each other together.

Mention the values and facilitate a short discussion on what they mean to people.

Divide the group into smaller subgroups of max four people, with a table for each group.

Explain the task: to connect all tables with bridges made out of A4 paper only (!).

After construction, the values in action are evaluated, drawing parallels with daily work.
