Root Pause Analysis

Pause to reflect on why something is an issue before moving into solution mode.

Key steps

Before you get into solution mode, pause to reflect on why some things are an issue.

Decide on max. five team challenges or issues you'd like to address in a workshop.

Set up a carousel where everyone lists what they think is the issue behind each issue.

Discuss & create consensus per issue, before going into action (and improvement) mode.

Make a write-up of the deep dives, including the action(s) to tackle each issue.
