Scrum Sessions

A fixed daily stand-up keeps everyone aligned, focused, and quick to flag barriers.

Key steps

Set a fixed slot in the agenda — for instance every morning 08:45-09:00 — and never cancel it. Hold it with whoever is in the office, and be wary of accommodating people calling in or arriving late, to keep the energy high.

Appoint a scrum master other than the manager to chair the meeting, rotating the role monthly if it helps. Use the daily stand-up to focus, align, ask for approval or simply inform each other — it works especially well for teams working on the same things together.
